CIVIL

Over the past 20 years, extensive reviews of the civil justice system have been undertaken. In 1996, the Ontario Civil Justice Review released its final report, which generated significant civil justice reforms in Ontario, including the introduction of simplified procedures, case management and mandatory mediation. Throughout 2008 and 2009, judges of the Superior Court of Justice took a leading role in reviewing and analyzing the recommendations made by former justice The Honourable Coulter A.A. Osborne in his 2007 report on the Civil Justice Reform Project. The Honourable Osborne's mandate was to recommend improvements that would ensure a more accessible and affordable civil justice system.

The Osborne recommendations were considered by the Civil Rules Committee — comprising judges, lawyers and Ministry of the Attorney General representatives — which makes civil court rules, subject to the approval of the Attorney General. The Chief Justice, the Associate Chief Justice and several Regional Senior Judges are members of the Rules Committee. As well, two Superior Court judges were members of an advisory committee that made recommendations to the Rules Committee on how to translate the Osborne reforms into rule amendments. Virtually all of the reforms proposed by The Honourable Osborne were implemented effective January 1, 2010.

During 2009, the Superior Court undertook planning for implementation of the new court rules. Highlights of these efforts are outlined in the sections of this Report on the Court's regions.

A total of 93,035 civil proceedings were commenced in the Superior Court of Justice between April 1, 2008 and March 31, 2009. The following year, between April 1, 2009 and March 31, 2010, the total rose to 96,003

(These numbers do not include the approximately 20,000 uncontested estates cases commenced in Ontario every year).

Re: Michael Sekulovski, et al. v. Benjamin Arkin, et al.
Court file no.: CV-20-00002184-0000

This letter is further to our letters, dated September 29, 2020 and October 1, 2020, on behalf of Robert Levesque, Marshall Swadron, Brendan Donovan, David Mills and Adam Giancola requesting that the above-noted action be dismissed as against them pursuant to Rule 2.1.01(1) on the basis that the claim is frivolous, vexatious and an abuse of process.

We have since been retained by two additional defendants – Benjamin Arkin and Maria Salman – and ask that any determination arising from our previous requests to have this action dismissed also cover Mr. Arkin and Ms. Salman.

We apologize for the multiple letters. We were retained by our clients at different times and were uncertain if the procedure under Rule 2.1 required specific requests to be made by or on behalf of each of the parties.

All other parties and/or their counsel have been copied on this correspondence. For convenience, I have attached another copy of the Statement of Claim.

Yours truly,

Lucas E. Lung
